RESERVATION TO ARTICLE 10 ACCEPTED

A solid Republican lineup, reinforced by four Democratic votes, put the reservation across exactly as it came from the foreign relations committee and in virtually the language which the president declared on his western tour would cut the heart out of the covenant and mean the rejecion of the treaty. The vote by which he reservation won was 46 to 33.

The fight for reservations having hus been carried to a climax, the Republicans presented for future action cloture proposal designed to bring final action on the question of ratifition within a week. A less sweeping measure, proposing limitation on the reservation debate only, had been put in by the Democrats earlier in the day, but rejected when the Republi cans voted to sustain a point of order against it.

A vote on the question of clamping down a cloture on debate will come tomorrow morning, and the Republican leaders say it will depend entirely on the Democrats whether the move rallies the necessary two-thirds to make cloture effective. The Democratic leaders are not ready to say now they will vote, being fearful that agreement to so sweeping a program might imperil their chances to secure action on a ratification resolution of

SANDRA THE JEALOUS

A DISAPPOINTED QUEST.

I paid no attention to anything in which, only the day before, I had been so interested. The dress lay on the floor just as it had fallen when I went down-stairs with the note; the drawers of the old bureau yawned widely, waiting to be relieved of their contents, and so make the Norcross girls happy. But no thought of all this disturbed me. What had Everett uone with that picture?

I searched every nook and corner carefully, but did not find it. The picture was too large to be in any of the receptacies in the attic. No trunk or sureau would hold it. Had he put it where he could look at the tace of the woman he had loved so madly even oftener than he could when it hung on the horary wall?

his omce: Perhaps he had taken down there. How was I to find out rie was very much opposed to my coming to his office. He had told me often that a man's wife never should make his office a place to discuss their private attairs, neither should she use the office telephone for that purpose. He was very rigid in his ideas about these things. I used sometimes to wonder if he were as severely so with

As I went down stairs I planned to make him a visit to the office. I would drive as Mrs. Gray had suggested, then stop for Everett and bring him home with me. I would time my ride to do this.

I dressed carefully. Everett was always annoyed when I did not look wen. Then about four o'clock I took the car and Thomas drove me out into the country. The air did me good. I couldn't be quite so unhappy when the sun shone so brightly, and the cal ran smoothly along the country road.

About ten minutes before his usda. time for leaving the onice I stopped before the building, and instead of sending Thomas up-as I had always done the very few times I had called for Everett-I went up myself.

Mr. Graham has stepped out for a moment. He will be back soon, " the office boy told me, looking his surprise at my visit, I had told him I was 'Mrs. Graham."

"I will wait in his private office." "Very well, ma'am."

I entered and closed the door. To my delight his Secretary had gone. I was alone. A hasty glance showed me the picture was not upon the walls of his office. Just then he came in. 'Sandra!" he said in surprise.

"Yes, I was riding and thought I'd call for you.'

"That was kind, although you know I prefer you should not come here. Are you feeling better?" his voice was You are looking far more rested than you did. Your ride has done you good.

"Yes, I am better," I replied rather absently, my eyes roving about the

"I am not going directly home, but you may put me down at the club," he said as we left the office.

A sudden suspicion flashed into my mind: Everett always kept a room at the club, and a dress suit and toile: articles there so that he could dress if necessary without coming home He had probably taken the picture

MRS. KINGSBURY GIVES ATTRACTIVE BRIDGE LUNCHEON

Lovely in its appointments was Mrs. R. S. Kingsbury's 1 oclock bridge luncheon Thursday for the pleasure of Miss Helene Jobe, the fiance of Mr. Homer Corry of Springfield.

Each of the six tables was exceedingly dainty and attractive. Miniature "brides' were featured on the place cards and the tallies, and at each cover was a corsage boquet of sweet heart roses. Miss Jobe found a particularly large cluster of the dainty flowers at her place. Tiny silver wedding MRS. MARY PETERSON bells and silver horseshoes for good luck were placed on the tables.

Etiquette of Fish Feast.

In the Samoan islands, when a fish feast is held, the piece de resistance must be divided up in accordance with a rigid and unvarying etiquette. The heads are assigned to the tribal orators, who are of the high nobility. The flesh just behind the gills is set apart for guests whom the host of the occasion desires to honor. The pectoral fins (a particular delicacy) go to the king. The cuts across the spine just abaft the pectorals (the very parts we should think most desirable) are distributed among the common people. For the chiefs the tail and belly parts are reserved.

Louise Mullener, as Monk & Weikert, auctioneers, Harry | Marie Pfeiffer, was the third of the and her part though difficult was well portrayed. Anna Golden as June Block and E. R. Reed as William

Pfeiffer carried their parts well as did Charles Darrah as Walter Stuart. The story by Samuel Shipman and Aaron Hoffman ontains a wonderful sentiment which explains its endorsement by President Wilson. It taught a war lesson in the prettiest way possible and its presentation on the American stage, helps spread the American ideals. #### Ashland Lady Confident Others May Find Same Relief In Trutona

Ashland, Ky., Nov. 13, 1919-"I think Spring Valley Man Trutona is a very good medicine and I can recommend it to all of my friends, suffering as I did, and feel sure they will gain a wonderful lot of relief," Mrs. M. Manley, 606 East Front, Ashland, said recently

"The trouble seemed to be principally with my stomach," she continued. "My appetite was poor and I was usually in a constipated condition, I never had any desire to eat breakfast and when I did it, caused me a lot of trouble. I didn't cleep well at night,

"Although I have been taking Trutona only a few days it has made me feel a whole lot better. The food I eat agrees with me now as I'm not bothered with the constipation any more. Why, I can hardly wait to eat my breakfast these days and what I eat never hurts my stomach one bit. I sleep better at night, too, than I have for some time and I feel better when I get up in the morning."

Trutona, the perfect tonic, is now being introduced and explained in Xenia at Sayre & Hemphill's.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief for Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomachache and inability to retain food are in probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach cansing the formation of causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causer that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To ston or prevent this souring of velopment or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpendive remedy to use.

Palmer Says Prohibition Laws Will Be Enforced.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT ISSUED

Attorney General's Position With Respect to Enforcing Wartime Dry Law In No Way Altered, It Is Declared, by Court Decisions In Rhode Island and Kentucky - Effect of Ohio's Rejection of Ratification.

Washington, Nov. 14 .- It was officially stated by the department of justice that Attorney General Palway been altered by court decisions in Rhode Island and Kentucky.

The government's contention that the wartime law is valid, it was added, will be vigorously defended until final decision has been handed down by the United States supreme court.

While enforcement of the law is estopped in the two states, United States district attorneys, acting on prior instructions, will proceed with prosecutions of violators in other communities, officials declared.

Department officials differed as to the results of the injunction. Some held that, during the life of the restraining order, there was nothing to prevent open sale of all intoxicants as covered by the order. Others did not agree with this belief.

With regard to the effect on the constitutional amendment by the Ohio referendum overturning the legislature's action, the attorney general's view was said to be that action by the Ohio electorate would not change the date on which the prohibition amendment to the constitution goes into ef-· fect. Until the number of states ratifying the amendment falls below 36, the department will not concern itself with the changes in their identity, according to the opinion expressed by the officials of Mr. Palmer's staff.

Reports of a new attack to be made by anti-prohibitionists in an effort to stave off constitutional prohibition have reached the department of justice from several sources. This assault is expected to be based on the reversal in Ohio's stand it was said. Officials, however, said they felt sure of their ground. None believed that more than a reissuance of the proclamation of ratification could be forced. while a majority held firmly to the suggestion that so long as 36 states remained in the dry column the government need take no heed of the names of the states.

Whisky Sold In Louisville. Louisville, Nov. 14 .- For the first time since July 1, when wartime prohibition went into effect, whisky openly was sold in Louisville without interference by the federal authorities. The sales were made by two Louisville distilleries from their taxpaid floor stocks, under the protection of a temporary injunction.

Sold in Xenia by Sayre and Hemphill, D. D. Jones and other dealers.

(Copyright, 1919, by the Westerb Nem?

Dale Morton felt that he had done a good month's work and had carned s few days' vacation. He had been sent on a mission of looking up the rights of his employer, a city merchant, to an estate. The hunt ing up of this person could come later.

It was at the pleasant little town of Grassmere that he got off the train. put up at its hotel and settled down to a few days' sojourn. The next day affected his destiny more than he had ever anticipated and held him at Grassmere for over a week. Morton was dling at a spot of coolness and shade at the riverside at the edge of a pretty stretch of the woods next day, when a jovenile howl arrested his attention.

"What's the trouble, sonny?" in quired Morton, and the lad held up a wreck represented by two tattered suspender ends, a crotched stick and a dangling strip of leather.

"Don't cry," advised Morton soothingly. "Maybe it can be fixed."

It was many a year since Morton had possessed a like boyish contrivance, but he set his inventive genius at work. The crotched stick was infact and his wallet was surrounded by two heavy clastic bands. In a jiffy a he had adjusted these to the stick, the piece of leather was set in place, and A the boy fairly danced with delight as Michel Fokine, creator of "Scheherazade" and the modern Russian ballet, who is credited with causing a revolution in the chorus art, recently arrived in the U.S. with his wife, Vera, famous herself as a dancer. After refusing several fabulous offers from U.S. theater magnates, Fokine accepted a contract from Morris Gest to put on the ballet numbers of "Aphrodite," the Egyptian spectacle now being rehearsed. The sum makes Fokine the highest paid dancing instructor in the world, it is said. Yes, of course, Fokine was a favorite with the late czar. It is said also that the Reds, although hating the czar as they did, invited Fokine back to Russia as chief director of the Imperial theater after he was forced to flee.

Packing the Soil.

It has been estimated by authorities that a man weighing 170 pounds, wearing No. 8 shoes, creates a pressure of 14 pounds to the square inch of surface where he steps. A horse weighing 1,-400 pounds creates a pressure of approximately 18 to 33 pounds per square inch under his hoofs while pulling an average load. A tractor weighing in the neighborhood of 1,800 pounds exerts a pressure only about ten pounds to the square inch.

Fitting Expiring Sentiments. To Vespasian is attributed as an expiring sentiment, "An emperor should die standing!" which seems to have appealed to two sixteenth-century English bishops-Woolton, whose last utterance is recorded as, "A bishop ought to die on his legs," and Sewell, who declared, "A bishop should die preaching."

Sir Thomas Lipton, noted British sportsman, photographed aboard the liner Carmania on his arrival in New York. Sir Thomas is here to ar range for the proposed yacht races f or America's Cup. The races will be the first held since 1914, when the dec laration of war cut short the plans for the race that year. Sir Thomas's contender, the Shamrock IV, has been in drydock in Brooklyn through the five years of the war, and it is said with a thorough overhauling will be fit for the races.

Boston, like New York, and other Eastern coast cities, has suffered from the recent record high tides, said to have been induced by unusually strong ocean winds. Streets within a few blocks' radius or the waterfront were flooded to a depth varying from one to three feet. Here is shown a modern Sir Walter Kaleigh aiding a young lady across a flooded street

And you should be among those present when "IIM SHARP" demonstrates the Hummer Sharpener at my store the week of NOVEMBER 17TH

IIM will make a few cutting remarks about keeping farm tools in best working condition. He is a keen man, is Jim Sharp, and he will be busy. But he'll be here six days, and will have plenty of time to show you.

Jim says, "a dull farmer blames his tools, but a good farmer sharpens them" (on a Hummer).

So come in during the week and see what a great time and trouble saver the Hummer really is.

MAROONS SCHEDULED TO MEET THE DAYTON BEAVERS ON SUNDAY

Coach George Baldner's Maroons Tit-Bits. are anticipating no easy time of it Sunday when they play the Dayton Beavers on the Reserve gridiron.

While the locals were victorious in their clash with the third Springfield team they have defeated this season last Sunday, they went through the hardest game of their brief career at that time, and were much battered although still aggressive when the whistle blew.

However. Baldner's charges have returned in great style and Captain Wilson and his pets are expected to be in top form when they tackle the much toated Dayton eleven on the local oblong. McCune, crack end for the Beavers will be out of the fray, and Wilson and Dornbuch are also not expected to appear in the Beaver lineup. This is bad news for the locals as the Beaver management will probably "load up" in place of these regulars. However, the Maroons have been going good since their defeat at the hands of the Beavers and after defeating the McKinleys who ir turn beat the Beavers, the Maroon aggregation feels that it can also turn the trick on the Gem City out-

HIGH ELEVEN WHILE CRIPPLED SEVERELY, EXPRESSES OPTIMISM

Despite injuries that have crippled his team within the past week, Coach V. L. Faires of Central High School's blue and white eleven is predicting that Springfield High will have to step some to carry away the long end of the score in the game at Roberts' gridiron Saturday after-

The local mentor was working a new backfield when Quarterback Bill" LeSourd was injured, and with the exception of filling this vacancy he will continue to carry out his plan. Captain "Bill" Riddell expects to get into the fray despite a bunged up shoulder, which he irritated when he hit the tackling dummy too hard in practice and he is hoping that the injury does not recur in the battle against the Reapers.

Bales, who has been performing at end and being called back to punt, has been placed at halfback, "Bing" Knee as his running mate, and either Captain Riddell or Sid Richards, the big colored lad, will be used at full. Boxwell, who won himself a place on the secondary de-fense by his brilliant plunging in the Middletown set-to, will general the team from the pivot position

The locals have not played for two or three weeks and are anxious to get back into the fray. Anticipating a rejuvenation, the many followers of the blue and white are also expecting a reversal when the two clubs get together on the oblong this week-end.

RUSSIAN GIRL STOWAWAY TROUBLE IMMIGRATION MEN

Denver, Colo., Nov. 14-Dania Lucia Lauberg, a fourteen-year-old Russian miss, has won the sobriquet of "Mystery girl," here, after a series of thrilling experiences during the past year that included a trip as a stowaway on the Japanese liner Tambo Maru from Shanghai, China, to Seattle, Wash.

The Lauberg girl was turned over to immigration officers here after having been before Judge Ben Lindsay in Juvenile court as a result of being picked up on the street by Denver police officers. Her story was narrated in the stoic manner of mature persons from her native land. The immigration officials here are benefitting from information they received from Seattle officers, who say she twice escaped from the immigration detention home in that city.

The girl's mother died in Fusan Korea, leaving the orphaned child penniless. She found her way to Shanghai, where she stowed away on the Tambo, Maru, arriving in Seattle after many hardships.

Dania is being cared for at the Good Shepard Home here, pending decision of immigration officials at Washington.

STRANGE ASSAILANT FIRES AT BOY FOR TWO DAYS

Perry, Kan., Nov. 14.—Claude. Jones, fourteen, son of C. W. Jones, who lives six miles northeast of here, has been shot at four times within the last few days, two of the bullets piercing his clothing.

It is believed that either a maniac is at large or some boy companion is seeking revenge for an imaginary

Young Jones, however, insists that he has not had trouble with anyone and is at a loss to understand the at-
